UX/UI designer with a field-service background and an artist's eye. For four and a half years I was a Utility Technician II, running a busy natural gas service territory in Orlando and living inside enterprise software every day, so I know what a confusing screen costs the person holding the tablet. Now I design tools for the people who keep things running: I find the structure inside messy problems and design it into products people trust.

EXPERIENCE

2026 – now

Studio Six Closets · UX/UI Designer & Researcher

Custom closet design-build company in Orlando

- Solo UX strategist and designer on a homepage redesign: stakeholder interview, competitive analysis of 8 local competitors, and secondary research.
- Set measurable goals for qualified consultation bookings and local search, and shelved a costly configurator to invest in a clearer consultation path.
- Installed Google Analytics on the current site so the redesign can be measured against a real baseline at launch.

TECO Peoples Gas · Utility Technician II

Natural gas distribution · Orlando, FL · Full-time

- Ran a busy field service territory: service turn-ons, leak investigations, and emergency response within one hour.
- Planned every day by hand across appointment windows, priorities and due dates, working in SAP Asset Manager on iPad and iPhone.
- Redesigned the work-order app from the field's point of view and presented it to management, who want to bring many of the ideas into the next version now being scoped.

Shepherd AI · User Experience Designer

AI vehicle pricing for independent car dealers · Freelance · Orlando, FL

- Sole designer on DriveFlow: owned the landing page, conversational intake, price report, team dashboard, mobile, error flows and copy.
- Led the price report with a draggable value graph, so dealers could check the AI's number against their market before trusting it.
- Built the intake from modular prompt blocks, so the flow survived a pricing model and scope that kept changing.

RECOMMENDATION

>
> Garrett is a true go-getter. Garrett never waited to be handed the next problem, and always came to our sessions with work in progress and sharp questions. Garrett's homepage redesign for Studio Six Closets shows it: Garrett started from the business problem (leads arriving unsure about price and process, and about one in four dropping out at the price). Garrett set measurable goals, and made smart calls about what to build now and what to shelve, like skipping a costly configurator to invest in a clearer consultation path.
>
> Garrett is also an excellent communicator, both in the work and with people. Explaining bespoke pricing honestly instead of showing a misleading "starting at" figure is a good example. Garrett explains decisions clearly and takes feedback without ego.
